

LEGAL ONE

Inside Legal One

Einfach #lawsome!

Insider interview

with

Elena Zuliani

Since June 2017 Elena has been working as a QA Engineer at Legal One. In the interview she talks about joining the company and her everyday life at Legal One.

LEGAL ONE

Hi Elena! What are your main tasks at Legal One?

I have been working in Legal One for almost 5 years as a QA Engineer. My work can be split between before and after development: the first part is about planning and it includes discussing requirements with the product team, to make sure they are clear and complete, designing specific test cases for the feature to be implemented and pondering regression on affected existing processes. The second part is about action and it requires testing what is planned during the first phase.

In the past 2 years, thanks to some online courses and a lot of help from our former FE developer, I learned how to write tests in Javascript and how to execute them with Cypress. By now almost all functionalities are covered by automation tests.

How was your recruiting process?

The recruiting process was very smooth. After sending my application, I was first invited to the office by the CPO. We already worked together in the past, so it was more a chat than a job interview. On the next day I met the CTO and both of us told each other about our working experience and expectations. In less than a week I received a job offer.

Why did you join Legal One?

After many years in finance, I wanted to test a different product for a change. There are definitely less numbers but it is equally complex, which makes the everyday work challenging and interesting.

Tell me about your first days at Legal One.

Everyone was very welcoming and helpful, I felt as a part of the team from day 1. I received several onboarding sessions that helped me understand the different processes and the connection among them.

Do you like the working environment?

Like in most companies, the environment has been affected by the pandemic. Working from home has its advantages but I am also looking forward to going back to the office to have coffee and lunch breaks with my colleagues.

Do you have any tips for applicants?

Be relaxed and honest during your interview. We look for people that fit in with the team.

Thank you very much for this interview, Elena!

Up for a challenge? We look forward to receiving your convincing application via jobs@legal.one including your availability and salary expectation. We are looking forward to meeting you!